Best Points of Contact for MFA Students:
— Ander Monson, Program Director (PD), 429 ML (ander@email.arizona.edu)
— Sharonne Meyerson, Program Assistant (PA), 445 ML, (sharonne@email.arizona.edu)

Other Places to Go If You Have Questions or Concerns
— The Program Director (PD) is always available to talk about any concerns you may have or to answer any questions.
— Logistical questions are usually best directed to, in this order, the PA or the PD.
— Questions about your degree paperwork are usually best directed to, in this order, the PA the Graduate College degree counselor/GSAS.
— Questions/concerns about your Writing Program teaching are best brought to the Writing Program, but it can be useful to loop the PA or PD in if you need us.
— For anything you don’t feel comfortable bringing to the attention of the PA or PD for whatever reason, you may contact Aurelie Sheehan, Head of the English Dept.
— For anything, but especially for concerns that you feel may be shared by other graduate students in CW or English: The EGU (English Graduate Union), http://english.arizona.edu/english-graduate-union-egu; egucoairs@gmail.com or specifically, Laura Esposto, the MFA EGU Representative.
— For concerns about issues of diversity, equity, and inclusion: If you’d rather not bring these to the PD, you may bring them to the CW Faculty Committee on Diversity, Inclusion, and Equity (Kate Bernheimer, Manuel Muñoz, Susan Briante)
— If you feel that you’ve witnessed or experienced discriminatory conduct, all of us (especially the PD) are good initial points of contact for your concerns. We will also direct you to consult (and report your concerns if appropriate) to The Office of Institutional Equity: http://equity.arizona.edu/. The University’s policy strictly prohibits retaliation against an individual for reporting perceived discrimination or participating in a resulting investigation.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The University of Arizona MFA program is an energetic, demanding, and flexible fully-funded 3-year program (though it may be completed more quickly if a student prefers). The faculty are committed to providing the tools for student success, including extensive verbal and written feedback; safe and multivocal workshop spaces; challenging craft courses that build on foundational skills and extend them in complex ways; and building and respecting policies that protect against discrimination and that maintain appropriate professional boundaries. As well, the program is committed to widening canonical discussions to include voices that are representative of a deep history of diverse American and global literature while at the same time developing an understanding of the origins and contours of the history that got us here, from Romanticism to postmodernism. To that end, we include here the latest iteration of the program’s Statement on Diversity, Inclusion, and Equity.

PROGRAM STATEMENT ON DIVERSITY, INCLUSION, AND EQUITY:

“The concepts contained in words like ‘freedom,’ ‘justice,’ ‘democracy’ are not common concepts,” writes James Baldwin. “On the contrary, they are rare. People are not born knowing what these are. It takes enormous and, above all, individual effort to arrive at the respect for other people that these words imply.”

So, too, might we consider words like “equity,” “diversity,” and “inclusion.” In March 2016, University of Arizona President Ann Weaver Hart called for a Diversity Task Force, stressing an understanding that such a project could help “all of us build a campus environment that values diversity and inclusion as core tenets of what it means to be a Wildcat” (see Diversity & Inclusion site for more information). This is an important step in anticipating campus-wide initiatives that advance our understanding of these concepts and their benefits to our campus. It is also an important call for us as creative writing faculty to consider what makes a better and stronger working environment for all.

As we welcome the new academic year, we ask what equity, diversity, and inclusion mean to the wide range of experiences and approaches that shape literary art. We recognize that the vitality and risk of art encourage us to produce differing and unique points of view. At the same time, we exist as an interconnected community that relies on discussion, debate, and appreciation to thrive. What is the writer’s role as an individual practitioner, and what is the writer’s role within the community? How do we intersect and what are the invisible currents that shape our lives? We believe that thinking about these questions is central to our program’s development as a place where writers assemble and grow.

Audre Lorde describes difference as “a fund of necessary polarities between which our creativity can spark.” As working artists, our MFA community understands how essential and significant this concept is to the literary art we practice and teach. As a faculty, we embody a commitment to difference and embody it in diverse ways. We recognize that the core tenets described in this statement are vital to our primary commitment: the respectful mentoring, advising, training, and supervising of early-career artists. Each of us is in a unique position to consider carefully how the integrity of those interactions affects not only an individual’s artistic production, but also the spirit of openness and community that we support.

KATE BERNHEIMER
Associate Professor, Fiction
kbernheimer@email.arizona.edu
ML 446, 621-1598

Kate Bernheimer has been called “one of the living masters of the fairy tale” (Tin House). She is the author of a novel trilogy and the story collections Horse, Flower, Bird and How a Mother Weaned Her Girl from Fairy Tales (both with Coffee House Press), and co-author, with Laird Hunt, of the novella Office at Night, which was a 2015 finalist for the Shirley Jackson Awards (Coffee House Press/The Walker Art Center). She has edited four influential fairy-tale anthologies including the World Fantasy Award winning and bestselling My Mother She Killed Me, My Father He Ate Me: Forty New Fairy Tales and the World Fantasy Award nominated xo Orpheus: 50 New Myths (both with Penguin Books). She also writes award-winning children’s books, published by Penguin Random House Children’s Books. Her books have been published in Korean, Spanish, Italian, French, Russian, Chinese, and Hebrew editions, among other languages. Her short fiction and short nonfiction have appeared such places as The New Yorker, The New York Times Sunday Book Review, Bookforum, Little Star Journal, Puerto del Sol, and The Massachusetts Review. Founder and Editor of Fairy Tale Review (Wayne State University Press Journals Division), she works with undergraduate and graduate students on the journal and is proud of their hard work and dedication to the thriving international fabulist tradition.

Note: Kate Bernheimer is on sabbatical leave in Spring 2019.

SUSAN BRIANTE
Associate Professor, Poetry
sbriante@email.arizona.edu
ML 336, 621-3880

The Kenyon Review calls Susan Briante’s most recent collection of poetry, The Market Wonders (Ahsahta Press), “masterful at every turn.” Briante is also the author of Pioneers in the Study of Motion and Utopia Minus (an Academy of American Poets Notable Book of 2011) both from Ahsahta Press. In addition, Briante writes essays and creative nonfiction. Recent work has been published in Gulf Coast, Black Warrior Review, Guernica and The Progressive. Her poems and essays been collected in the anthologies, Poems for Political Disaster, The Manifesto Project, The Force of What’s Possible, The Volta Book of Poets, The Arcadia Project: the North American Postmodern Pastoral, and the forthcoming A Body of Athletics: Contemporary Sports Literature among others. A translator, Briante lived in Mexico City from 1992-1997 working for the magazines Artes de México and Mandorla. She has received grants and awards from the Atlantic Monthly, the MacDowell Colony, the Academy of American Poets, the Dorothy Sargent Rosenberg Memorial Fund and the US-
Mexico Fund for Culture. Her research and teaching interests include poetry and poetics, cross-genre writing, experimental autobiography, documentary studies, affect theory, and translation. She serves as the faculty liaison and educational facilitator for the Southwest Field Studies in Writing Program. Briante also produces and hosts the radio program Speedway and Swan, an hour of free-form poetry and music sponsored by the University of Arizona’s Poetry Center and KXCI 91.3 Tucson.

CHRISTOPHER COKINOS
Associate Professor, Nonfiction/Environmental Writing
cokinos@email.arizona.edu
ML 444, 621-7405

Christopher Cokinos is the author of three books of literary nonfiction: Hope Is the Thing with Feathers: A Personal Chronicle of Vanished Birds (Tarcher/Penguin); The Fallen Sky: An Intimate History of Shooting Stars (Tarcher/Penguin); and Bodies, of the Holocene (Truman). In 2016, the University of Arizona Press published his co-edited anthology (with Eric Magrane) The Sonoran Desert: A Literary Field Guide, which won a Southwest Book of the Year Award. The poet Gabriel Gudding selected Cokinos’s collection The Underneath as winner of the 2016 New American Press Poetry Prize. The collection is forthcoming.

An Associate Professor English at the University of Arizona, Cokinos is the lead mentor in a science-communication program and is affiliated faculty with the Institute of the Environment and the Global Change program. He’s won a Whiting Award, a Glasgow Prize and an N.S.F. Antarctic Visiting Artists and Writers Fellowship, among several prizes. In 2015, he won an Outstanding Mentor of Graduate/Professional Students Award at Arizona. In fall 2017 he was a fellow at the Rachel Carson Center for Environment and Society at Ludwig Maximillian University in Munich. He is at work on poetry and prose and, with Julie Swarstad Johnson of UA’s Poetry Center, a new anthology called Beyond Earth’s Edge: The Poetry of Spaceflight for the University of Arizona Press.

His poetry, essays, reviews and criticism have appeared in such venues as TYPO, Diagram, Ecotone, Orion, Pacific Standard, The Writer’s Chronicle, Salon, Foundation, Asimov’s, Big Echo, Sugar House Review, Science and Extrapolation. He contributes to the Los Angeles Times from time to time.

He divides his time between Tucson’s Barrio Libre and Logan Canyon, Utah.

ALISON HAWTHORNE DEMING
Regents Professor, Nonfiction, Poetryademing@email.arizona.edu
ML 438, 626-0799
Alison Hawthorne Deming is Agnese Nelms Haury Chair of Environment and Social Justice and a 2015-16 Guggenheim Fellow. Her most recent nonfiction book is Zoologies: On Animals and the Human Spirit (Milkweed 2014). She is the author of five poetry books including Stairway to Heaven (Penguin 2016), Rope (Penguin 2009), Genius Loci (Penguin 2005), The Monarchs: A Poem Sequence (LSU 1997) and Science and Other Poems (LSU 1994), winner of the Walt Whitman Award. Death Valley: Painted Light (George F. Thompson), her collaboration with photographer Stephen Strom came out in 2016. Additional nonfiction books include: Temporary Homelands, The Edges of the Civilized World, and Writing the Sacred Into the Real. She edited Poetry of the American West: A Columbia Anthology and coedited with Lauret Savoy The Colors of Nature: Essays on Culture, Identity and the Natural World (Milkweed 2011). Her work has been widely published and anthologized, including in The Norton Book of Nature Writing and Best American Science and Nature Writing. Among her awards are two National Endowment for the Arts Fellowships, Stegner Fellowship, and Fine Art Work Center Fellowship. Her recent craft classes include: Literatures of Science, The Essay is Dead: Long Live the Essay, Poetry Forms and The Researched Memoir. She served as Poet-in-Residence at the Jacksonville Zoo and Gardens for The Language of Conservation project run by Poet’s House in NYC. In a follow-up project on poetry and science she is currently poet-in-residence at the Milwaukee Public Museum and Milwaukee Public Library. In summer 2015 she launched Field Studies in Writing, a pilot program bringing three MFA students for two weeks for research and writing on Grand Manan Island in New Brunswick, Canada, where she makes her summer home. A companion program Field Studies Southwest was launched in 2017. Both Field Studies projects are funded by the Agnese Nelms Haury Program.

Read more about the project, which will continue for a total of five years, in her blog at http://www.alisonhawthornedeming.com/.

Note: Alison will be on leave in Fall 2018 and Fall 2019.

Aurelie Sheehan, Head of the English Department, is the author of two novels and three short story collections, including History Lesson for Girls, Jewelry Box: A Collection of Histories, and Demigods on Speedway. Her most recent collection, Once into the Night, is the recipient of FC2’s 2018 Catherine Doctorow Innovative Fiction Prize and will be published in 2019. A novella, This Blue, was published as a Ploughshares Solo. Individual stories and essays have appeared in Alaska Quarterly, Conjunctions, Epoch, Fence, Mississippi Review, Nimrod International Journal, New England Review, The New York Times, Ploughshares, and The Southern Review, among other journals. She has received a Pushcart Prize, a Jack Kerouac Literary Award, a Camargo Fellowship, and an Artists Projects Award from the Arizona Commission on the Arts. Her interests include the novel and short story, flash fiction and prose poetry, the novella, and cross-genre writing.
PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

The MFA degree requires 42 units (the equivalent of 14 three-unit classes), at least four semesters in residence, and the completion of an acceptable thesis project.

Course requirements:

- Four Creative Writing workshops in Fiction (604), Poetry (609), or Creative Nonfiction (501). At least three must be in your genre; one out-of-genre workshop may also be counted toward this requirement if you like.

- Four Creative Writing Craft Seminars (596H), including at least one outside your genre. We offer two to four 596H seminars each semester, in fiction, poetry, and nonfiction. Topics vary every semester.

- At least three Electives: Electives may include coursework in the English Department or in other departments, additional workshops outside primary genre, additional ENGL 596H seminars, the CW Pedagogy Preceptorship (required for all students teaching CW workshops for the first time), internships (up to 6 units), and Writing Program preceptorship credits (up to 4 units for Writing Program GTAs). Courses outside English require CW Program Director approval.

- MFA Colloquium, required for all MFA students every semester, is a one-credit, pass/fail course that meets each Friday. This course houses MFA orientation and logistical discussions, conversations with visiting writers and editors, and discussions around professional development.

Thesis requirement:

- One Thesis Manuscript Independent Study (ENGL 909) taken during student’s final semester (3 credits).

ACADEMIC PROCEDURES

ACADEMIC PROBATION

Students with a GPA falling below 3.0 will be placed on academic probation by the Graduate College. These students will be required to meet with the director or their graduate adviser, discuss the steps to be taken to remedy whatever caused the probationary status, and submit a written plan of action to the program.

CHANGING THESIS ADVISER

At any point a student may make a formal request, with a specific rationale, to the program director to switch advisers. The PD will consider these requests in consultation with the student and faculty, as appropriate. As all faculty are well-prepared to work with all students, we strongly discourage thesis adviser change requests purely for reasons of aesthetic or affinity. Students will not be forced to work with faculty they are uncomfortable working with, and there will be no retaliation for the request. Because changing advisers typically means significant shifts in workload for faculty, it may not be possible for the program to accommodate requests for specific advisers.

SWITCHING GENRES & DOUBLE GENRES

We encourage MFA students to take craft courses and workshops outside of their admitted genre. However, because the MFA is ideally used to pursue a significant mastery of a single genre (a complicated enough task in itself!), students are expected to do their thesis work in their genre of admission.

If an MFA student wants to apply to do thesis work in a genre outside of the one in which they were admitted (whether they want to switch genres or work in multiple genres, the process is the same), they must formally make an application to the faculty, typically no later than December of their second year, in which they declare their intention, a rationale with brief project proposal (< 5pp), and enclose a writing sample equivalent to the manuscript pages they would use to apply to the program (< 30pp of prose or < 10 poems). Because of workload and staffing limitations, the program is limited in its ability to accommodate these requests, so it may not be possible to accommodate any individual request, even though the work in question may well be accomplished and very promising.

If a student is accepted to do a second thesis in a second genre, that means that they must complete all MFA requirements in both genres (two theses, usually one in fall and one in spring of the final year; two defenses; two committees; 4 workshops and craft courses in each genre). A much more common (and probably wiser, for most of us) arrangement is to complete the thesis in your genre, and to also work on another book-length project via independent study with a faculty member.

FILING A GRIEVANCE

A student should first file the grievance with the Program Director. If the grievance is about the Program Director, or if the student feels otherwise uncomfortable speaking directly with the Program Director, or if the student feels the issue has not been resolved, the student then takes the issue to the Department Head.

Graduate College grievance procedures are available to any student who has exhausted all options within their program and academic college. The Graduate College website provides guidelines to determine whether a complaint fall within its jurisdiction: https://grad.arizona.edu/policies/academic-policies/summary-grievance-types-and-responsible-parties.
FINANCIAL CONSIDERATIONS

The MFA Program offers fully-funded GTA or other positions to all its students. These positions are typically renewable for up to three years, assuming continued university funds, satisfactory academic progress in the program, and satisfactory performance as an instructor. Other financial aid opportunities are also available through the Graduate College (for more details see here). As long as students continue as .5 GTAs, they are only responsible for yearly fees. If you're considering giving up your GTA position, please talk with the PD as soon as possible. It is sometimes possible for the MFA program to cover tuition for students who have relinquished their GTA positions, but we have limited funds with which to do so, and it varies from year to year.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Graduate students may be granted a leave of absence for any reason for up to one academic year. Students will be readmitted without reapplying to the department and the Graduate College. Please see the Program Assistant for more information on the Leave of Absence. (Be aware that because of changing faculty leave schedules, a leave of absence may result in your being assigned a different adviser.)

LISTSERVS

You will automatically be subscribed to the program listserv for general announcements, award announcements, and various other general Creative Writing MFA business. The subscribers to creativewriting@list.arizona.edu are all the faculty and students in the MFA program. All MFA students (and no faculty) are enrolled to the CW Student List: cwstudents@list.arizona.edu. This list is for topics specifically relevant to our students. You have the choice of emailing your fellow students or the whole program directly on this list, or you can email the Program Assistant and they will send your email out. We also have an Alumni (national as well as only locals) list. If you are not sure which list to send to or would like a wide distribution, please contact the program assistant.

POLICY ON NON-MFA STUDENTS TAKING MFA COURSES

Graduate students not enrolled in the MFA program who seek admission to MFA courses must query the creative-writing program director in advance. Ideally, they should approach the program director in the previous semester, but in any case they must file a request at least two weeks in advance of the first class meeting. As part of their query they should attach: (1) a short (1-3 paragraph) narrative or summary of their writing and workshop experience at the undergraduate or graduate level and/or at short-term writing workshops, as well as any other pertinent study or career information; (2) a short (1-3 paragraph) statement of their interest in the course. In addition, they may be required to submit a short (5 to 15 pp.) writing sample. After appropriate faculty consultations, the program director will inform the applicant of the decision to allow enrollment or not. Exceptions to this policy may be made at the discretion of the faculty. Students seeking admission under this policy may be advised to consider other courses that may suit their needs, including enrolling in graduate-level independent studies that incorporate undergraduate creative-writing workshops for appropriate credit, with the graduate-level portion of the workload to be determined in consultation with the professor.

PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT FOR STUDENTS TO UPHOLD: Please see the UA's Code of Academic Integrity. All graduate students must sign a responsible conduct of research statement in GradPath, the Graduate College’s academic progress and degree audit site here: https://grad.arizona.edu/gsas/gradpath. This form is an acknowledgement and acceptance of the University's Academic Code of Integrity. For more step by step information on this form: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=OROLVBHAcZQ&feature=youtu.be.

REGISTRATION

The creative writing program assistant registers students for courses, independent studies, and internships, and provides information about registering for classes outside of the English Department.

During preregistration each semester, the program assistant will email students descriptions and ask for their course choices. Students in their primary genre are given priority for workshops and craft seminars. Second-year students who may not have another chance to work with a certain professor or who need a course for graduation will be given priority over first-year students.

SIMULTANEOUS WORKSHOPS

The program strongly discourages students from taking two workshop courses in one semester, because for most writers it will decrease the usefulness of and your performance in both workshops; choosing to do so requires the approval of the program director as well as both workshop professors.
TAKE COURSES OUTSIDE OF THE CREATIVE WRITING PROGRAM

You are encouraged to take courses outside the Creative Writing program that support your work. For example, almost every semester the Art Department at the University of Arizona offers courses in letterpress printing and bookbinding. For more information please see http://art.arizona.edu/facilities/book-art-and-letterpress-lab. The MFA in Playwriting offers courses appropriate for our students. We have world-class programs in many disciplines, and while some are highly specialized and require a very particular background, there are many opportunities for curious and dedicated students.

Taking courses outside of the English department will require the approval of the Program Director, usually given easily.

To register for graduate English Literature or English Applied Linguistics courses, please contact the Literature and EAL Graduate Programs Coordinator, Marcia Simon.

STUDIO HOURS (909 CREDITS)

Third-year students are advised to discuss their plans for the final year with their thesis advisor as soon as possible. In an MFA student's third year, in addition to the 3 thesis credits in their final semester, they may take up to an additional 3 hours of studio credits (writing time with no faculty oversight or involvement) with the approval of their thesis advisor and the program director.

THESIS EXTENSIONS BEYOND PROGRAM TIME FRAME

This is a three-year MFA program, and we fund and support students for up to three years. Students may, however, have up until 6 years to complete their MFA, which includes turning in a thesis project, but the program cannot guarantee financial support nor faculty availability to direct that thesis to students beyond those three years.

TRANSFER CREDITS

The program does not typically accept transfer credits.

WORKSHOPS IN OTHER GENRES

Graduate students are accepted into the MFA program based on their work in one genre and are expected to complete their thesis project in their genre of acceptance, but we encourage our students to experiment in other genres. Workshops are open to all students in the program when space is available and with the professor's consent. In-genre students receive first priority. One out-of-genre workshop course may count to fulfill workshop requirements; after that, workshops in a secondary genre will count as electives.

FUNDING

TUITION & FEES

A semester of tuition (not including fees) for a graduate student in the English Department in 2018-2019 is $16,032 for a non-resident. The Graduate Teaching Assistantship covers the entire cost of the tuition, but students are still responsible for student fees, typically in the range of $540-664 per semester.

For further details: https://bursar.arizona.edu/tuition.

WRITING PROGRAM GRADUATE ASSISTANTSHIPS

Offered upon acceptance into the program, these .50 FTE assistantships are renewable for up to three years. They include a salary, tuition waiver, and student health insurance. The typical 2017-2018 salary is $16,100 per academic year (2 semesters) for students teaching in the Writing Program. (Graduate students with Masters degrees earn a slightly higher stipend.)

CREATIVE WRITING TEACHING ASSISTANTSHIPS

By application for continuing students, these positions are one-class, one-semester assignments teaching an Introduction to Poetry (209), Fiction (210), or Creative Nonfiction (201) undergraduate workshop, or occasionally, if need arises, a 300-level workshop. Each fall semester students are invited to apply for the next year for these competitively-awarded positions. After faculty review of applications, invitations to teach these courses are made by the program director.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE FOR TRAVEL

The English Graduate Union (EGU) has limited funds available for travel, typically for graduate students who are GTAs presenting their work at regional or national academic conferences. Students on official program business (such as the editors of Sonora Review representing the journal at the AWP Conference) are typically eligible for these funds.

Please see: https://english.arizona.edu/gta-travel-fund for more details.

The Graduate Student Research Fund is set up for English Department graduate students to help defray travel costs associated with conducting research or field work. Deadlines are twice a year. These grants are competitively awarded to graduate students in English. Each graduate student may receive funding for only ONE research project per fiscal year (July 1 - June 30). The Fund reimburses a maximum of $500. Applicants are encouraged to match these funds with other sources of support such as the SBSRI Pre-Dissertation Research Grants, GIDPAC, or a GIDP student research support fund. Please email Program Assistant for more details.

The Graduate and Professional Student Council (GPSC) also has limited funds available for travel (as well as other great opportunities on grants and awards for graduate students!) Please see: http://gpsc.arizona.edu/ for more details.

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

English Summer Research Fellowships:

— The English Summer Research Fellowships fund one promising research project in each of the terminal-degree graduate programs in English (MFA in CW, MA/PhD in Lit, PhD in RCTE) to be conducted over the summer.

— $2500

— Please see Program Assistant.

— The Writing Program also typically funds a Writing Program Summer Research Fellowship for MFA students doing research that leads to outcomes in students’ teaching.

GPSC Research and Project (ReaP) grants:

— http://www.gpsc.arizona.edu/research-grants

— $1000 for research projects

GPSC Professional Opportunities Development Funding

— http://www.gpsc.arizona.edu/pod

— $1500

— “The GPSC recognizes that graduate and professional student education is advanced by events promoting the development of skills necessary to succeed in their fields of study. Therefore, the GPSC strives to support professional development initiatives of graduate and professional students through Professional Opportunity Development funding. Such initiatives and events include, but are not necessarily limited to academic seminars, conferences, meetings with industry representatives, etc. Any group of at least three graduate and/or professional students can apply to the GPSC for funding to support a POD event they are directly involved in planning.”
SBSRI Pre-doctoral dissertation grants

- http://sbsri.sbs.arizona.edu/sbsri-funding
- max amount: $500
- 2018/2019 deadlines: 5pm, Sept 24, 2018; 5pm, Jan 28, 2019
- “Up to $500 for PhD and Master’s research activities. Allowable expenses include research-related travel and expenses, subject payment, supplies, and small equipment. Students may be awarded only one Pre-doctoral Research Grant; prior awardees are not eligible. See guidelines for further information.”

Carson Scholars Program

- http://carson.arizona.edu/
- $5000
- 2018/2019 deadline: 5pm Sept 21
- The Carson Scholars Program offers one-year, one-time-only, $5,000 graduate scholarships to exceptional University of Arizona graduate students committed to interdisciplinary research on environment and society. The scholarships are designed to support and retain University of Arizona graduate students whose research is related to the environment and/or social justice and who are interested in communicating science to a broad audience.

Field Studies in Writing / Grand Manan

Three awards will likely be available to current MFA candidates to participate in the Field Studies in Writing offered in summer 2019. Funding will cover travel expenses, lodging and per diem to bring three MFA students for two weeks to the Canadian Maritimes (Grand Manan Island, New Brunswick, Canada) to work on research and writing based on site visits, field trips into the fishery, archival research, oral histories and interviews. The project will also engage with island youth to help mentor them in telling their stories of coming of age in this place. This opportunity is open to application from MFA candidates in all three genres. Students whose thesis projects explore issues related to environment, community, culture, sustainability, North American and border studies are encouraged to apply. Application deadline in February. Details to come.
Field Studies in Writing / Southwest

The new Field Studies Southwest project will be coordinated by recent MFA alumnus Paco Cantú; Associate Professor Susan Briante will serve as faculty facilitator. Ethnobotanist and Patagonia resident Gary Paul Nabhan also serves as consultant. Participants will spend two weeks in southern Arizona, working in collaboration with the Borderlands Earth Care Youth Institute. This program, sponsored by the Borderlands Habitat Network, engages marginalized youth in hands-on restoration work of the local ecosystem while providing leadership and educational opportunities. In March two MFA participants joined with graduate students from the Wake Forest University School of Theology, under the leadership of Fred Bahnson, author of Soil and Sacrament: A Spiritual Memoir of Food and Faith, to visit the Native Seeds/ Search farm in Patagonia and the Kino Border Initiative in preparation for the summer program.

AWP Intro Awards

Arizona’s MFA program nominates work in fiction, nonfiction, and poetry each year for the Associated Writing Programs (AWP) Intro Journals award. The deadline is November 30, 2018. This isn’t a financial award, but it is a prestigious one, and comes with publication in a leading literary journal. Submissions are judged by a panel of faculty members, and the nominees go into contention for the national award. Submissions welcome by students in any genre. More details on these submissions in fall.

Foundation Awards

The Bill Waller Award for Non-Fiction, John Weston Award for Fiction, and the Minnie Torrance Award for Poetry are competitive monetary awards in each genre each year. Submissions for these are November 2, 2018. Winners are read blind and selected by outside judges. 2017’s judges were Matt Bell in fiction, Kristen Radtke in nonfiction, and Francisco Aragón in poetry. Submissions welcome by students in any genre. More details in the fall.

UA Poetry Center Student Contests

— http://poetry.arizona.edu/opportunities/ua-student-contests
— $100-$1000
— various deadlines
— The Hattie Lockett Awards, offered every fall semester. Three prizes in the amount of $300 are awarded.
— The Spring Poetry Contests, offered every spring semester. Five prizes in the amount of $100 to $200 each are awarded.

— The LaVerne Harrell Clark Fiction Prize, offered biannually. One prize of $1000 is awarded.

Writing Program Fellowships And Teaching Awards
By application for GTAs in the English Department, administered by the Writing Program.

Monique Wittig Scholarship
Awarded by the Department of Gender & Women's Studies This scholarship honors the life and work of Monique Wittig, French novelist, poet and social theorist. Wittig was a professor at the University of Arizona, Tucson from 1990 to 2003. First published as a novelist, Wittig's fiction revolutionized French literature. Mary McCarthy called her “the best writer anywhere of her generation.” Wittig's fiction, as well as theoretical writing, has had a fundamental and worldwide impact upon feminist theory and lesbian and gay theory. In honor of Wittig, the Monique Wittig Writer's Scholarship will foster innovation in literary forms and the connection between politics and language. It will allow University of Arizona graduate and undergraduate students to allocate more time to their writing. MFA students have historically been quite competitive for this award. Deadline for applications each spring via the website for the Department of Gender & Women’s Studies.

Grants & Funding are also available to student clubs via ASUA and GPSC.
STEPS TO GRADUATING

SCHEDULING OVERVIEW

Students in their 4th semester:
Meet with faculty during MFA colloquium to discuss the thesis process and subsequently submit at least three ranked choices for thesis adviser to the Program Director, who makes the assignments.

Students in their final semester:
1. Meet with adviser regularly and write, edit, and polish their thesis manuscript.
2. Defend their MFA thesis with their adviser and committee (to be arranged between student and adviser—usually in the last couple weeks of the semester; typically students submit the MFA thesis and critical intro/aesthetic statement 2 weeks before the thesis defense).
3. Submit the MFA thesis in both PDF and hardcopy (including critical introduction/aesthetic statement) to the program assistant by the deadline. See MFA Thesis and MFA Manuscript Printing sections below.
4. Make sure all your forms are complete on UA GradPath.

For more information, please contact the Program Assistant.

MFA THESIS ADVISING

In the 4th semester in the program, MFA students will meet with faculty in all genres to talk about the thesis process and expectations. After that meeting, students will submit to the PD a 2-page thesis project proposal and a ranked list of preferred faculty advisers.

The PD pairs students with advisers based on four primary criteria:
— student’s stated preference (via her ranked list of faculty in order of preference) and timeline
— balancing thesis advising workload among faculty (considering faculty leaves and our many other commitments)
— the suitability of faculty’s aesthetic, research, and teaching interests to the proposed project;
— preference for advisers in genre will typically be given to students in genre

At any point a student may make a formal request, with a specific rationale, to the program director to switch advisers. The PD will consider these requests in consultation with the student and faculty, as appropriate. As all faculty are well-prepared to work with all students, we strongly discourage thesis adviser change requests purely for reasons of aesthetic or affinity. Students will not be forced to work with faculty they are uncomfortable working with, and there will be no retaliation for the request. Because changing advisers typically means significant shifts in workload for faculty, it may not be possible for the program to accommodate requests for specific advisers.

MANUSCRIPT COMMITTEE & DEFENSE

The thesis process concludes with a thesis defense. Some advisers call this “defense” an editorial meeting or exit interview. Some conduct it as a more formal defense of the thesis. Sitting for a formal defense is not a requirement of the program but it is recommended, and students may request one if they like. A defense typically involves a committee assembled by the student under the guidance of the thesis adviser. Defense committees will consist of three people maximum (with a minimum of two creative writing faculty, including the thesis adviser, typically only one in-genre). The thesis adviser will read and relay comments, the other two will be readers only, and are only expected to read the final draft and be present for the final meeting. The third person on the committee is typically not a member of the CW faculty, and is approached by the student at least six months in advance.

GRAD PATH

You are required to fill out the following forms for graduation:

1. Responsible Conduct of Research Statement (CRTVMFA)
2. Plan of Study (CRTVMFA)
3. Master's/Specialist Committee Appointment Form (CRTVMFA)

The first one (RCR) is just a yes/no type thing.

Once you finish that, the Plan of Study form will open up for you to fill out. Once submitted this form gets routed to the Program Assistant, the Program Director, and finally the Graduate College.

Once the form has completed the rounds you will receive an email from the Graduate College letting you know it is approved. You can then open up and fill out to the next form. The previous form has to complete the approval process before you can open the next form (except between the RCR and Plan of Study – that’s immediate).

Your Completion of Degree form is done by the program assistant once the thesis book has been received.
MFA THESIS

The MFA thesis is a requirement of the program for all MFA degree candidates and represents the culmination of the writer’s workshop study. The suggested length for the manuscript is a minimum of 48 pages for poetry and 100 pages for prose. An aesthetic statement or critical introduction is required. The writing must achieve a professional standard throughout, this being more important than the page count. Exceptions to the page-count standard may be made at the discretion of the thesis adviser and/or program director. It is the student’s responsibility to meet with his or her thesis adviser early to work out expectations regarding length, subject, and form.

The deadline for submitting the book is listed in the program calendar. The degree will not be awarded until the program assistant receives the book; missing the deadline may mean that you will be required to take an additional thesis credit in the summer, for which you may have to pay out-of-pocket.

All MFA theses are kept in perpetuity by the program for archival purposes. They are not publicly available in digital form. All MFA theses on file may be read onsite at the Poetry Center.

MFA THESIS: AESTHETIC STATEMENT / CRITICAL INTRODUCTION

The aesthetic statement or critical introduction invites the writer to create a cogent orientation of his or her work within a wider context. It must be included as the final pages in the bound manuscript, or as the introduction if appropriate.

For poets, the statement may explore notions of style, voice, linguistics, form, and so on. The poet may also place herself or himself within or without a historical, political, social, or spiritual tradition. The preparation of a precise statement of personal aesthetic implies that the candidate for the MFA is capable of analyzing the poetry and principles of historical and contemporary figures as well as his or her own.

Likewise for prose writers, the statement may discuss the elements of craft, or where the writer falls into or departs from a larger tradition. The aesthetic statement may be considered a statement of location, a creation myth of the writer as an artist, or solely as an introduction to the manuscript, a discussion of literary influences and future plans. The statement should serve the writer—in other words it should be true in an essential way for the writer as an artist.

The recommended length for the statement is at least two to four pages. The timeline for review of the statement is up to the adviser and candidate, but certainly it should be part of the manuscript submitted for the thesis defense.

If you would like to see samples of past aesthetic statements please contact the program assistant.
MFA THESIS: PRINTING AND BINDING GUIDELINES

The program requires a bound hardcover or paperback MFA thesis as well as a digital copy for archival purposes.

Book cover/title page: Your name and the title must be on the spine of the book. Genre and year of graduation must be included inside, either on the title page, or the last page. This information is essential for archiving your book at the Poetry Center.

Table of contents: Include a table of contents with page numbers if your book is a collection of stories, essays, or poems.

Margins: Your bound manuscript must be approximately 8.5 X 11, 12 point font. Left margins should be about 1.5." The top margin should be about 1.5" and the right and bottom margins should be about 1". You can look at manuscripts in the Poetry Center in order to get a better idea of how the finished manuscript should look.

Please consult the Program Assistant if you have questions about where to print your book.
OPPORTUNITIES AND CONNECTIONS

UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA POETRY CENTER

The University of Arizona Poetry Center, an area of special emphasis within the College of Humanities, was founded in 1960 by writer and philanthropist Ruth Stephan. The Center’s nationally acclaimed special collection library of poetry contains over 50,000 items, including books, periodicals, audio and video recordings, rare and limited edition books, photographs and broadsides. Begun in 1962, the Visiting Poets and Writers Reading Series has featured over 1,000 readers, including most major contemporary U.S. poets, significant international visitors and emerging artists. In addition, the Poetry Center sponsors diverse outreach programs as part of its sustained effort to cultivate audiences for poetry and literature.

UA PROSE SERIES

Founded in 2001, the UA Prose Series brings writers of distinction to the University of Arizona. The Series is currently sponsored by the Department of English, and presented in cooperation with the University of Arizona Poetry Center. The Series has brought such writers as Lydia Davis, Junot Diaz, Joy Williams, and George Saunders to the U of A campus. Conversations with writers usually occur in MFA colloquium, though there are often other opportunities to connect with our visitors. The Series relies on student help to put on the events so please join us in this effort. Prose Series readings can be found on the Poetry Center website as well as the CW program website.

WORKS IN PROGRESS (WIP) READING SERIES

Join a genre-friendly, genre-bending reading series by and for emerging writers, poets, experimentalists & more in the University of Arizona’s MFA creative writing program. The Works in Progress (WIP) Reading Series coordinators for 2018-2019 WIP coordinators: Maddie Norris and Emi Noguchi.

UA PRESS

The University of Arizona Press, founded in 1959 as a department of the University of Arizona, is a nonprofit publisher of scholarly and regional books. As a delegate of the University of Arizona to the larger world, the Press publishes the work of scholars wherever they may be, concentrating upon scholarship that reflects the special strengths of the University of Arizona, Arizona State University, and Northern Arizona University.

The University of Arizona Press publishes about fifty-five books annually and has more than 1,000 books in print. These include scholarly titles in Native studies, anthropology, archaeology, environmental studies, geography, Chicano studies, history, Latin American MFA students have often interned or worked at the press, typically in editorial, production, or marketing roles, depending on their interest and background. To apply, send a cover letter, resume, and brief writing sample to internship@uapress.arizona.edu.

ENGLISH GRADUATE STUDENT UNION (EGU)

The English Graduate Union is the association of graduate students in the Department of English. MFA students become members with enrollment in the program. Each year, two MFA students may serve as representatives to the EGU. Founded in 1991, the EGU monitors graduate student workload, advocates for graduate student concerns and issues on many departmental and administrative levels, and mobilizes graduate students across the campus around important issues like health care, tuition remission, and childcare.

Creative Writing EGU reps typically serve one-year terms, with one representative elected each semester. The reps serve as liaisons between the students and faculty on a variety of issues affecting the program. For more information on the EGU, please visit the EGU web page. The Creative Writing EGU rep is Laura Esposto.

MANY VOICES:

Many Voices is a club founded in 2014 to provide social and professional support to graduate students of color in the University of Arizona’s creative writing MFA program. Our goals include: increasing professional development and networking opportunities for students of color; promoting community-building; advocating for a more diverse creative writing MFA program; disseminating information to UA writers of color pertaining to academic, financial, and social needs and supports, networking opportunities, literary events, and professional opportunities; serving as a liaison between faculty, staff, student organizations, and the community at large; increasing opportunities to study literary works by writers of color; and fostering the creative development of writers of color at the UA. For more information, contact us at manyvoices.uofa@gmail.com. Or follow us on Twitter @uamanyvoices.

AWP

Each student receives a membership to AWP throughout their time in the program. Our subscription to the Associated Writing Programs Writer’s Chronicle provides a copy for everyone in our program. Copies are also available in the English Department Office. The AWP online job list is also a good place to look for jobs. Once the Program Assistant registers you for AWP membership (automatically done for every MFA student), you will receive an email with your personal login information.

POETS & WRITERS MAGAZINE

This magazine's lists of competitions and awards, as well as its deadlines for grant applications, are useful for writers. Published six times a year by Poets & Writers, Inc., you can subscribe to the magazine and also to the free newsletter online.

THE NATIONAL WRITERS UNION

The National Writers Union is the trade union for freelance writers of all genres, and even has a Poet & Fiction Writers Caucus. The NWU offers contract advice and grievance resolution, member education, job banks, networking, and social and professional events.

ARIZONA COMMISSION ON THE ARTS

The Arizona Commission on the Arts is the state agency that issues grants to individual artists and organizations, and can be a good source of funding for the projects of MFA students.

SONORA REVIEW

Sonora Review is one of the nation's oldest literary magazines, and is run entirely by MFA students. Positions available include Editor-in-Chief, Managing Editor, Fiction, Nonfiction, and Poetry genre editors, and assistant editor. Genre editors and Editors-in-Chief typically receive academic credit for their work in producing two yearly issues. For more information please contact Emilio Carrero or Kevin Mosby, the Editors-in-Chief for 2018-2019, or the faculty adviser, Ander Monson.

INFUSE SERIES

Administrative positions running student-based reading series and/or putting together literary salons. For more information, please email Ander Monson.

DIAGRAM

DIAGRAM <thedigram.com>, founded in 2000, is one of the oldest online literary journals. We publish six issues of art, text, and (found, original, and reprinted) schematics a year, sometimes also with art, audio, and digital work, and together with the New Michigan Press, sponsor a yearly chapbook contest with an April deadline. Though DIAGRAM is not a publication of the University of Arizona, it is housed here, since it's edited by Ander Monson. If you're interested in working on the magazine, we often need assistant editors and readers for our yearly chapbook contest.

ESSAY DAILY

Essay Daily (<essaydaily.org>) is a website hosting about nonfiction, particularly the essay (and its many offshoots and hybrid forms). If “essays are how we speak to one another in print,” to quote Edward Hoagland, Essay Daily is accelerating that process. Regular features include columns on the trans essay, the visual essay, Writing the Ellipsis, Rule-Breaking, International Essayists, and the Malcontent (a pseudonymous black hat column in which we're cranky about writers that everyone seems to think are super awesome except for us). We publish an essay a week, sometimes two, and also feature conversations with editors and publishers of nonfiction, journal editors, and writers with collections of essays out. We're pretty various. Want to get involved? Pitch us by contacting Will Slattery (wjaslattery@gmail.com) or Ander Monson. We're often looking for craft essays or those interested in conducting interviews with an emphasis on nonfiction, or lively, nonacademic engagements with contemporary or classic essays or essayists. Plus we run a yearly advent calendar, publishing an essay a day during Advent.

MARCH XNESS

March Xness is a literary tournament of essays about music that occurs each March. Each year features a themed, interactive March Madness-style tournament of essays about songs and. 64 songs enter, and we play the songs off against each other with live voting during the month of March each year. In 2017 the tournament was March Fadness (one-hit wonders of the 1990s: the winner was Natalie Imbruglia’s “Torn”). In 2018 it was March Shredness, sweet and awful hair metal songs battling it out for the trophy (winner: Loudness’s “Crazy Nights”). 2019’s theme is the goth bracket: March Vladness. You can vote on matchups beginning in March 2019, but if you’d like to be involved in researching or writing about Siouxsie and the Banshees, Sisters of Mercy, Death in June, Swans, The Cure, and the like, get in touch with Ander Monson.

NEW MICHIGAN PRESS

New Michigan Press is a small chapbook press and the publisher of DIAGRAM. Together with DIAGRAM NMP runs a chapbook contest for prose, poetry, and hybrid work with an April deadline. We've published 59 chapbooks, plus five print anthologies. Our authors include Paul Guest, GC Waldrep, Melanie Rae Thon, Joshua Marie Wilkinson, Mathias Svalina, Joshua Poteat, Ben Mirov, Kristy Bowen, and James Franco. If you're interested in working on the magazine, we often need readers for our yearly chapbook contest (who read mostly in April-June). There may be other opportunities. Talk to Ander Monson if you’re interested.

COMMUNITY INTERNSHIPS

POG

POG is a nonprofit organization presenting poetry and multi-arts events to the Tucson community, and recording, arching, and presenting those events to the national and international communities through POGSound and PENNSound web sites. In its 15-year history POG has presented 200-plus writers, artists, musicians, and critics, including local, national, and international figures. Each year POG presents a minimum of 6 events, and sometimes as many as 11 events. In addition, POG partners with the Tucson Poetry Festival, the University of Arizona Poetry Center, Sonora Review, and other organizations to make a space in Tucson for avant-garde practices in poetry and related arts forms. Please contact both mailto:pog@gopog.org for inquires.

KORE PRESS

Kore Press is a non-profit literary arts organization that has been publishing women since 1993. As a community of literary activists devoted to bringing forth a diversity of voices through works that meet the highest artistic standards, we publish women’s writing that deepens awareness and advances progressive social change.

Publishing internships are available for summer and fall semesters (6-10 hours a week.) Duties may include assisting with publicity; maintaining website; filling book orders; promoting new titles; producing content for monthly email newsletter; communicating with authors; staffing tables at book fairs; general correspondence; grants research, assisting with readings and other events; coordinating fundraising activities and general administrative support. Interns are expected to attend weekly staff and occasional board meetings. Interns will report to Lisa Bowden, Publisher (mailto:lisa@korepress.org). Academic credit available.

THE CENTER FOR BIOLOGICAL DIVERSITY

Internships available in writing, editing, and design within this 20-year-old, national nonprofit conservation organization dedicated to the protection of endangered species and wild places. Hours to be determined, academic credit to be determined. For more information please visit https://biologicaldiversity.applicantpro.com/internaljobs/.

TERRAIN.ORG: A JOURNAL OF THE BUILT + NATURAL ENVIRONMENTS
Terrain.org is a nonprofit, international online journal based in Tucson, Arizona, that publishes two theme-based issues per year at www.terrain.org. Founded in 1997, Terrain.org is unique because it combines both literary and technical work: editorials, poetry, essays, fiction, articles, reviews, an interview, the ARTerrain gallery, and the UnSprawl case study. We also maintain a regularly updated blog. The journal currently receives over 100,000 visits per issue. For more information please contact Simmons Buntin, Editor-in-Chief.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA MUSEUM OF ART

The University of Arizona Museum of Art is interested in class visits and other collaborations with creative writers. To take your students there, contact the museum directly. For other projects, such as readings, ask Ander Monson for more information.
