

A children's literature publication showcasing new and established writers

October 6, 2016

University of Arizona's Tucson Tales Launches! Open Call for Submissions

TUCSON, Arizona – Tucson Tales is a publication run by undergraduates at the University of Arizona. We publish children's literature written by both new and established writers. In addition to the works we publish online, Tucson Tales strives to improve literacy within the Tucson community and beyond through outreach and cultivation of creativity.

Submissions are now open! We are accepting fiction, nonfiction, poetry, and comics/graphic novel excerpts. This first deadline is November 4, 2016. See our website (tucsontalespublication.com) for guidelines and updates on community events.
