ABOUT YAWW

The Young Arizona Writers' Workshop is an intensive, weeklong, creative writing camp for high school students (rising 9th-12th graders), hosted at the University of Arizona.

Students will have the opportunity to learn from professional writers and to take advantage of the resources that the university offers-- from maker spaces to rare book archives and Poetry Center exhibitions.

YAWW instructors will guide students through workshops designed to help students practice and refine their writing craft, learn to draft and revise their creations, and figure out how to go about getting their works published.

The week will culminate in a public reading of student work, with the publication of a booklet of students' writing. Family & friends are invited!
